Tilden, the so-called reformer. that we have in it a journal every way He was posted in the history of Tilden, and for fifteen years Tilden has stood at the head of a ring of robbery in New York. He was the partner of Boss Tweed in New York politics. Tweed was a thief, stealing millions, and Til-den was never heard from until Dix, a Republican governor, brought Tweed to justice, and under the administration of Tilden Tweed escaped from prison. He would not bow the knee to the great and good APPEAL. The APPEAL to-morrow morning will ridicule your club. Some men have so little brains that they use the language of the pothouse politician. When they prove to me that I am wrong, I will beg the pardon of the great Bourbon organ, the APPEAL. Hard money is a Democratic doctrine. You have both on soft money; they have a pig in one end and a puppy in the other. Hayes and Wheeler pre all right in their record. No one can prove otherwise. I propose to act just as I please, and you will hear it said to morrow that "he was a renegade;" they would not do it to his face. He worked like a dray-horse for the criminal court anecdotes. He was responsible for all he said. The Demooffice, have stolen the public money but if you put Tilden in, he will stead the last cent in the treasury. He did not want a corruptionist like Tilden in office, and he would not support him, even though he was called a renegade, a scalawag, or something else. Take the bullying element of Bourbon Democracy away to morrow, and the intelligence of Shelby county would carry the county for the Republican cratic and Republican parties, while in party. Sink or swim, survive or perish, come weal or woe, he was for Hayes and Wheeler. At the close of the speech there was considerable applause.

Turner was congratulated by the leading Republicans present, and was wel-comed into the fold of the party as a new proselyte, who had all the zeal that young and fiery converts feel. On motion of Charles Kortrecht, an executive committee of ten was appointed to take charge of the club. The committee appointed consisted of Charles

Kortrecht, C. F. Conn. Theodore Krekel, F. S. Davis, T. F. Cassells, R. F. Patterson, L. B. Eaton, P. J. Mulverhill F. W. Louis, Ed Shaw. The next orator introduced was

COLONEL WM. M. RANDOLPH. Colonel Randolph, on being called upon, mounted the stand, and congratulated the meeting on the conversion of his friend G. M. P. Turner from Democracy to Republicanism. He lauded Hayes and Wheeler, and when he asked gentlemen why they could not support Hayes and Wheeler, he was met generally with a taunt or an insult. The Rapublican party is the best friend of the south. That party wishes the south to prosper. His speech the other night had been misconstrued. He said then that he and other Republicans were silently ostracized here in Memphis by some men, but he felt perfectly safe here, just as safe as in Massachusetts. There is an opposition here to any man who sup-ports a Republican ticket. People north believe that ostracism exists here, and this is injuring the south. He invoked the public Journalists of Memphis to aid in destroying this silent feeling of ostracism existing in the south against Republicans or northern men. A man's social standing should not be regulated by his party affiliations, and he should not be estracized on that account. The Republican party favors building the Pacific railway with the public money. The Democratic party opposes giving public money to any public improvement. Democracy opposes the introduc-

He believed the Democratic candidates are gentlemen and good men. If any ostracism gots on, why they had the army and navy to meet that force. The Republican party favors issubends to the Southern Pacific railroad, which would pass through Memphis and enhance in value double or threefold the property of every man in Memphis, yet the Democratic congress refused to grant anything to the Pacific railroad project. Judge Lews discussed the prospects of the respective candi-dates, and announced that Eayes and Wheeler would be elected by a large majority. Two years ago the Republi-can party carried Shelby county, outside of the city, by twenty-five hundred majority, but they were counted out in the city. The Republican party can carry Shelby county to-day by a large majority in a fair election. To-day (Friday) the county court refused to give the Republicans a few judges of election, when it was asked for by Judge Henry G. Smith, but Governor Harris | Warner, to reshing a roof of building, sprung up and opposed it, saying it was unconstitutional. The county court did not want to give us a fair election, and control of the ballot-box, and a Republican majority can be made to appear like a majority in favor of Democracy.

Among the two hundred citizens present, were a number of Democratic citizens who attended from motives of curiosity, so as to enjoy the speeches and learn something as to the objects sought to be se-cured by the organization of a Hayes and Wheeler club in this city. It was a very orderly meeting, and was conducted in the best possible humor by all present.

List of Judges Appointed to Conduct the August Election-The Order with Reference to the Raleigh Railroad.

At the county quarterly court on yesterday the question of selecting a com-missioner to hold the August county election in place of the sheriff and coroner, who are rendered incompetent to hold said election by reason of their being candidates for re-election, came up for consideration. The county court elected Mr. Ed Worsham as a commissioner for that purpose. The next thing was the selection of judges of election. Judge Henry G. Smith was present, the Democratic ticket, hard money and | and made quite a lengthy speech in favor of permitting a committee composed of three or five citizens, representing the Republican and Democratic parties, to select such judges, or revise the list of judges made out, so that the Republicans could have judges at each precinct throughout the county.

Ex-Governor Harris spake in opposi-Democratic party. He wanted no office tion to this proposition, claiming that in any party. He believed Hayes and Wheeler have honesty, integrity and ability. Mr. Turner told several of his court had the power and right to make such selections or appointments. This argument was enforced by County-Attorney Taylor and by several of the justices present. One of the justices informed Judge Smith that the county court was not a political court, and that the court would make such appointments irrespective of the wishes or dictation of party manipulators.

> Impaired Digestion. The majority of people suffer to a greater of lasser degree from this said affliction; many unthinkingly cultivate by insufficiently masticating their food; others whose occupation is of a sedentary character have it forced upon them, the excessive use of tobacco, etc., all tend to develop it. The symptoms vary, one suffering severely after meals, another only slightly, constipation or diarrhea, flatulence, variable appetite, etc., are only a few of its unpleasant consequences. Now what is required is at-tention to diet, assisted by a remedy which aids the natural secretions in the alimentary canal, and produces again a normal solvency of food. Such a valuable remedy is the celebrated Home Stomach Pitters.
